Truman Supports UN In Spite Of Disappointment

U.S. Can Be Proud Of Its Activities, President Says

WASHINGTON, May 12.—(AP)—President Truman pledged his administration's support today to full support of the United Nations despite "disappointment" at that organization's failure to achieve greater security for the world.

He submitted to congress a report on the U. N. which placed blame for the failure on Russia. At the same time he said the development of the North Atlantic treaty, now awaiting senate ratification, as a means of bolstering the world organization.

Of America's role in the U. N., Mr. Truman said: "We have taken the lead in many fields of international relations. We can be proud of what we have done."

His report, including a letter from Secretary of State Acheson, covered the year 1948 and reflected the bitter political conflicts which divided Russia and the West during that 12 months.

Acheson declared that "hope and disappointment" marked American participation in the U. N.

"The hope," he said, "grew out of the continuing feeling that the principles and purposes of the United Nations charter offer the best basis of a human rights and that most members of the organization are working loyally in that direction."

"At the same time there was disappointment because of the failure of certain states to observe the charter."

Israel Admitted To Membership In Union Of Nations

NEW YORK, May 12.—(AP)—Israel's admission as the 59th member of the United Nations has finally been approved. A simple flag-raising ceremony today winds up the formalities.

The general assembly approved the Israeli application last night by a vote of 57-12, with nine countries abstaining.

The decision was followed by an Arab walk-out but some of the Arab countries' representatives returned for a late night meeting, indicating that the protest was ended.

Israeli Foreign Minister Moshe Sharett took his seat as a regular delegate immediately after yesterday's vote. He delivered a 20-minute address on Israel's general foreign policy.

Sharett, however, took no part in a debate last night on the first issue to come up after Israel's admission.

The decision action until next fall on the Dutch-Indonesian dispute. Israel abstained when the assembly voted 43-6 approving the deferment.

Electra Prevented By Federal Judge From Use Of Train-Stopping Law

DALLAS, May 12.—(AP)—The Fort Worth and Denver Railroad today won a temporary restraining order against Electra's "whistle stop" ordinance.

Federal District Judge W. H. A. well granted the injunction against Electra's "four-barreled" ordinance passed Monday night.

The ordinance, among other things, requires the railroad to slow down to 15 miles within city limits. It was passed shortly after the Texas Railroad Commission told the railroad to go ahead with its plans to make Electra and

Communists Drive Nearer Shanghai In Dual Attacks

SHANGHAI, May 12.—(AP)—Red forces pushed to within 21 miles of Shanghai today.

Two separate Communist attacks were underway. The one was at Tachang, 21 miles to the northwest. Bitter fighting there was reported by the Chongqing garrison commune.

A force southwest of this great Asian city reached Shihuang, a hamlet 25 miles northwest of Shanghai. Government troops there were reported holding firm.

On the Central China Hankow front Central News Agency described fighting as "unprecedented fury raging." But from the size of forces involved this action seemed to be on a small scale.

The Shanghai garrison ordered all government departments out of Shanghai within two weeks.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 12.—(AP)—China's Communist radio at Peking said today a Nationalist fleet of 25 vessels, including two destroyers and five tank landing ships, had surrendered to the Communists two miles east of Nanking on the Yangtze.

The broadcast, heard by The Associated Press in San Francisco, said the entire second coastal defense fleet of the government had joined Red forces.

National Guard To Start Its Cleanup Drive On Friday

Foot soldiers and cannons will link their efforts Friday and Saturday to remove yesterday's tin cans and discarded birdies.

Members of the 143rd Infantry and the 133rd Field Artillery Bn. will man trucks that will start moving Friday into all parts of Corsicana on a two-day anti-pollution cleanup campaign.

The National Guardmen, using government trucks and trailers, will haul as long as Corsicana residents will stack their discarded junk and debris in front of their homes.

Jess Megarity, head of the city's sanitation department, and P. Travis Fullwood, street and sanitation commissioner, were putting the last touches on the city's part in the drive Thursday.

Tom Spikes, commanding officer of the unit, said that J. C. Gaston, public relations officer, was putting the last touches on the city's part in the drive Thursday.

At least eight trucks will be used, and the guard has more ready for call.

Truman Denies He Plans Attempt To Purge Congress

WASHINGTON, May 12.—(AP)—President Truman said today he was not interested in trying to purge Congress—that the people will take care of that.

He made that observation in a news conference discussion touched off by questions about a report that he was planning to purge Congress.

American Veterans Committee officials quoted him as making that remark in reference to Senator Frank P. Vento, when they visited the White House earlier this week.

There was wide interpretation of the report as a hint that Mr. Truman may try to "purge" Congress to oppose his program.

Byrd, who does not see eye-to-eye with Mr. Truman on many legislative matters, viewed it that way.

Today's news conference exchange began when a reporter asked the president if he was correctly quoted by the American Veterans Committee national chairman, Gilbert Harrison of Los Angeles, as to the remark about the Byrds in Congress.

Mr. Truman said his conversation with the veterans was a confidential one—that he saw no reason to comment on a report of a confidential conversation.

"I am not interested in a purge," the president asserted. "Then added that the people will take care of that."

several other communities "confidential."

The court order will remain in effect until a hearing set for 2:30 p. m. here Saturday.

Judge Atwell rejected railroad attorneys' verbal request that the hearing be held at Wichita Falls, Texas.

"I don't like to hear a restraining order until I hear from both sides," the judge said. It was reported the railroad had sought a restraining order.

The order names the City of Electra and several of its city officials—including Mayor T. Leo Moore, who has sparked the anti-whistle stop campaign.

Other named are Councilmen John Ted Price, Ray Dickey and J. F. McSpadden, Police Chief Ted Miller and City Attorney John McKelvey.

The order also named the city health officers. Under the city ordinance they would have been required to inspect toilet facilities of all passenger trains passing through the city.

Mayor Moore showed up at the federal courthouse a few minutes after the hearing was over.

He said Electra would be represented by

Arabs Target For Barrage Of Eggs In New York City

LAKE SUCCESS, May 12.—(AP)—A barrage of eggs scattered against the car of an Arab United Nations delegate in New York today, the delegate told a U. N. committee session here.

He made the report as Arab delegates sat in a U. N. session with delegates of the new State of Israel. The Arabs, who had stalked from the assembly hall last night with the admission of Israel as the 59th member, all were back in their seats today.

Jamil M. Baroudy of Saudi Arabia, a leader of the opposition to Israel's membership, said four men drove up in a car and hurled 10 eggs at the delegates' limousine. He said he did not want to link the egg-throwing with Saudi Arabia's attitude on Israel. He said he wanted the United States to protect delegates against "such cheap attacks."

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, sitting as U. S. delegate in the assembly social committee where Baroudy made the complaint, expressed "deep regret that any group of hoodlums would do anything of this kind."

In the political committee Israel Foreign Minister Moshe Sharett took his seat as a delegate, soon after the blue and white flag of Israel was raised outside.

Gearhart Eisler Located Aboard Vessel At Sea

WASHINGTON, May 12.—(AP)—Immigration Commissioner Watson Miller said today a stowaway aboard a Polish ship at sea has been positively identified as Gearhart Eisler, missing alien Communist.

The 53-year-old Eisler, facing two possible jail sentences in this country, disappeared last week from his New York home. He was free on $2,000 bail.

The liner, Batory, which sailed from New York six days ago, later radioed that a German stowaway aboard identified himself as Eisler. The ship, owned by Gdynia-American Shipping Lines, Ltd., is due at Southampton, England, Saturday.

Miller told reporters, "We have a positive identification."

Eisler, also awaiting deportation proceedings, has been trying to get out of the country for a long time. Neighbors reported they had not seen him around his New York apartment since late last week.

The justice department has been investigating his disappearance and Scotland Yard detectives were waiting for the Batory to dock at Southampton.

Eisler has admitted being a Communist, but denied being the No. 1 Red in this country—as alleged before the house committee on un-American activities.

The U. S. court of appeals at Washington refused recently to upset his conviction on a charge of concealing Communist connections in an application for a permit to leave the country. The conviction on that charge brought a sentence of one to three years.

For several months he has had an appeal pending before the U. S. supreme court from a sentence of one year and a $1,000 fine. The penalties were imposed on a conviction of contempt of congress growing out of his refusal to be sworn as a witness before the house un-American activities committee.

Housing Measure Gets Approval Of House Committee

WASHINGTON, May 12.—(AP)—The House Banking Committee approved 14 to 7 today the administration's proposal for a multi-billion dollar program of slum clearance, low-rent housing and farm housing aids.

The bill provides for construction of 1,000,000 low-rent housing units in seven years, as President Truman requested. The Senate recently passed a housing bill cutting the number of these units to 810,000 in six years.

Banking Chairman Spence (D-Ky.) said the legislation will come to a showdown in the House next week and "it will pass beyond any doubt."

Fight On Rental Decontrol Action By Texas Spreads

Air Force General Attacked By Solon For Stating Views

AUSTIN, May 12.—(AP)—The de-voleting fight over the bill before the Texas legislature to decontrol rents on a statewide basis grew hotter yesterday.

Rep. Carlton Moore of Houston, the bill's author, said an air force general's request to the governor that Texas take it easy, on such legislation was the result of pressure from Washington.

Moore said Federal Housing Expedient of the Woods was "back of the whole thing" and accused Washington officials of ordering military officers to influence legislation in Texas and other states.

The legislator's blast came after Gov. Beauford H. Jester's office received a letter from Maj. Gen. Robert W. Burns, deputy commanding general of the headquarters air training command, Barksdale Field, La.

Gen. Burns said decontrol of all Texas rents "would most seriously affect the welfare of thousands of military officers and airmen" of the air training command who are assigned to bases in Texas.

"Believe me, it is not my intention nor the intention of the air force to interfere in any manner with the legislative deliberations of the representatives of the people of Texas," he added.

"The removal of rent controls throughout the state of Texas would have a most adverse effect upon our efforts to protect the interest of our people," the general wrote.

"I realize that circumstances differ in each locality of concern to us. But if action could be taken to consider only municipal districts—rather than statewide decontrol—each area might be considered on its merits and our people could state their case to those most directly concerned in each action."

Hope Of Baseball Career Is Nipped By Court Martial

PEARL HARBOR, May 12.—(AP)—A Navy court martial yesterday threw a hitch in Louis E. Williams' hopes for a major league baseball career.

The seven-man court made no announcement of its findings in his trial on charges he deserted in July, 1945. By Navy custom, this means a defendant is convicted of the charge or a lesser offense. Acquittals are announced immediately.

Of the 24-year-old Hutchins, Texas, sailor who starred on Pearl Harbor baseball teams while listed as missing for three years, Defense Counsel Lt. Comdr. L. Wallace blacked out in court.

"I beg of you to get this poor, sick, bewitched and bewildered free so he may obtain the medical care he so desperately needs."

Maximum penalty for desertion in time of war is death. However, a 14th Naval District spokesman said a defendant could be convicted of a lesser offense such as in Williams' case—unauthorized absence or conduct to the prejudice of good order and discipline.

He said the court martial findings would be announced after review by Rear Adm. Charles H. Morris, 14th Naval District commander.

President Finds Encouragement In Foreign Outlook

WASHINGTON, May 12.—(AP)—President Truman said today he is happy over the end of the Berlin blockade, and is encouraged over the international outlook.

His remarks to a news conference were in response to a request for comment on the blockade lifting.

Asked whether he thought it was an encouraging note in the world situation, he said yes, he did.

Movement Is Agitated For Reopening Of City's Long Idle Swimming Pool; Answers Offered For All Objections

By BOB CAMPBELL, Daily Sun Staff.

The city's long-idle swimming pool on the southside may be as dry right now as yesterday's blotter, but there is a current move steadily toward the city commission room on the second floor of the city hall.

A group of interested persons have started agitating the reopening of the pool for the summer for the benefit of those who have no other place to dunk their thirsty bodies.

Already, Mrs. A. G. Elliott, one of the proponents of opening the pool to public use, has contacted members of the commission, and has indicated that more of the same is on the way.

The campaign is marked by one singular thing—the group has figured out all of the objections and have their answers written down just in case.

One of the chief objections during past years, Mrs. Elliott points out, has been that "the pool is on the wrong side of the tracks."

She responds with neat figures. Crockett and Travis schools have 577 pupils from the area south of Collin street. Fifty percent of the senior high school and junior high school students, of 397, come from the same area.

"For the 974 pupils south of Collin street there is no pool," she said. "For 1135, including Lee and Houston, there is the YMCA

Berlin Celebrates Ending Of Blockade As Traffic Moves

BERLIN, May 12.—(AP)—Two gigantic rallies, one Communist and the other anti-Communist, celebrated the end of the 327-day-old Berlin blockade today.

While ground traffic flowed freely into Germany's first city, old and young, men and women dropped their work and let off steam

South Takes New Place In Nation As Manufacturing Area, Report Says

WASHINGTON, May 12.—(AP)—The southward march of industry has made the South "one of the nation's leading manufacturing regions" and promises future advancement, the National Planning Association (NPA) believes.

Growing markets, raw material supplies, and ample labor—but not cheap labor—inspired the continuing postwar movement. NPA's committee of the south reported last night.

The committee surveyed the decision of 88 corporations to locate

Minimum Wage, Labor Bill Plans To Be Discussed

WASHINGTON, May 12.—(AP)—House labor committee Democrats were called together today to plan strategy for getting minimum wage legislation through Speaker Rayburn's House within the next month.

As the 16 party members responded to the call of Chairman Leslie (D-Mich.), some of them predicted a bitter battle on general labor policy.

It was their first gathering since the six-day House Labor debate ended in a stalemate a week ago, and it was the first caucus this year since Democratic members were invited.

Earlier ones were called without notifying three southerners, Reps. Barden of North Carolina, Wood of Georgia and Lucas of Texas.

Democrats have been split at least a dozen ways on what to do about raising the minimum wage and writing a new labor law.

Wagner insisted on reviving the Wagner Act, putting through a 75-cent minimum wage, and broadening the wage-hour law. That is just about what the administration has asked.

Others want to keep most or all of the Taft-Hartley law, raise the minimum little, if at all, and leave the wage-hour law pretty much alone. The remaining Democrats have been between those extremes.

The committee was under instructions from Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.), to have a minimum wage bill ready for floor action before the end of the month—maybe as soon as next week.

Rayburn, who is taking a personal hand in the current maneuver over labor legislation, has told reporters he wants a new Taft-Hartley repeal bill to follow the minimum wage measure to the floor within a week or 10 days.

There was some instruction opposition to these instructions. At least two Democratic members want to put the whole labor problem aside for a while and work on some education bills, two of which are awaiting hearings.

U. S. Orders End To Removals Of Japanese Plants

WASHINGTON, May 12.—(AP)—The United States today ordered a halt to further removals of Japanese plants as war reparations.

Maj. Gen. Frank R. McCoy, the American representative, told the 11-nation Far Eastern commission that even industrial plants classed as "primary war facilities" are needed by Japan to hasten its economic recovery.

The deliveries ordered halted were advance deliveries of plants and equipments which the commission already had earmarked for removal.

The reparations have gone in limited quantities to China, the Philippines, Netherlands for the Netherlands Indies, and Britain for Burma, Malaya and Far Eastern colonial possessions.

McCoy informed the commission the United States is convinced that there should be no ceiling on Japanese production for peaceful purposes.

McCoy's statement was made public by the state department.

JERUSALEM, May 12.—(AP)—An authoritative source said today Israeli Foreign Minister Moshe Sharett and King Abdullah of Trans-Jordan had met last week at Abdullah's winter palace.

The informant said several agreements for territorial realignments in Jerusalem were worked out.

Surviving are seven sons, Morris, Grover, Joe and M. J. Crawford, all of Kereks; Lamar Crawford, Houston; Lonnie and Bud Crawford, both of Pasadena; four daughters, Mrs. C. Copeland, Purley; Mrs. W. G. Owens, Mildred; Mrs. Naomi Schaffer, Houston; and Mrs. Ruby Stovall, Kereks; 25 grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren, and other relatives.

Government Must Have More Money To Avoid Deficit

President Stands By Appeal He Made In His Message

WASHINGTON, May 12.—(AP)—President Truman said today he is standing by his demand for a $4,000,000,000 tax increase.

It is needed, the president told a news conference, if the government is to avoid going into the red.

Mr. Truman asked the big tax increase in his January state-of-the-union message to congress.

The subject was brought up at his news conference because Rep. Doughton (D-NC), who heads the tax-writing house ways and means committee, said after a White House call yesterday that he thinks the government must make economies to keep income and spending in line with each other rather than looking to a tax increase.

The president said he had retired about $28,000,000,000 in national debt since he took office. That he added is more than any other president in history had retired.

Mr. Truman went on to say that this government ought to retire from two to five billion dollars in debt every year.

As a result of the huge wartime expenditures, the government's debt now stands at about $251,600,000,000.

The president said he has exercised rigid economy and that his budget deficit for the current year in January called for rigid economy.

He said he discussed social security, rather than taxes, with Doughton.

Doughton's house committee handles social security legislation as well as tax measures.

Mr. Truman replied with a flat no when a reporter asked if he thought the deficit could be avoided without additional taxes.

Asked if he thought the additional taxes should amount to four billion, the president first said he had to see how things worked out.

But later he said he was standing by his original recommendations.

He said he did not know what the deficit would be for this fiscal year, but certainly it would be far less than the four billion dollars. The administration originally estimated a deficit at between six hundred and seven hundred millions.

This fiscal year is the 12 months ending next July 1.

He was asked if he anticipates any change in his recommendations for the four billion dollar increase.

He said he did not anticipate any change, and that the government ought to retire from two to five billion dollars each year.

The national debt reached a high point of $278,400,000,000 in February 1946.

Asked if he thought the additional taxes should amount to four billion, the president first said he had to see how things worked out.

But later he said he was standing by his original recommendations.

He said he did not know what the deficit would be for this fiscal year, but certainly it would be far less than the four billion dollars. The administration originally estimated a deficit at between six hundred and seven hundred millions.

This fiscal year is the 12 months ending next July 1.

He was asked if he anticipates any change in his recommendations for the four billion dollar increase.

He said he did not anticipate any change, and that the government ought to retire from two to five billion dollars each year.

The national debt reached a high point of $278,400,000,000 in February 1946.

Minimum Wage, Labor Bill Plans To Be Discussed

WASHINGTON, May 12.—(AP)—House labor committee Democrats were called together today to plan strategy for getting minimum wage legislation through Speaker Rayburn's House within the next month.

As the 16 party members responded to the call of Chairman Leslie (D-Mich.), some of them predicted a bitter battle on general labor policy.

It was their first gathering since

Oil Utilization Bill Awaits Only Jester's Signing

AUSTIN, May 12.—(AP)—The hard fought oil utilization bill today awaited only the governor's signature to make it law.

Senator George Moffitt's bill was passed by the house yesterday, 76-54, at the end of long, sharply worded debate. A similar bill fell just short of passage two years ago when a compromise could not be reached in the final days of the session.

Rep. William George Richards of Lockhart, house sponsor of the measure this time, said the amended version was a compromise among most of the oil factions.

He said the bill would allow operators to enter into voluntary agreements for cooperative development of the field. He said he believed the courts would consider such unitization a "reasonable exception" to Texas anti-trust laws.

Fighting the proposition, Rep. Tom Cheatham of Cuero said: "I've heard the call of the little man. I've heard the call and I haven't turned a deaf ear like some of the big, fat, sleek, lecherous oil companies. They're not after conservation; they're after regulation of production."

Tack Is Removed From Lung Of Boy

PHILADELPHIA, May 12.—(AP)—A tack was removed today from seven-year-old Bobby Sanders' lung.

The Crowell, Texas, youngster swallowed the upholstering tack Sunday. Wichita Falls, Texas, equipment could not reach the tack and he was brought by private plane to Temple University's bronchoscopic clinic here.

Hospital officials said the operation was successful. The boy is in good condition and will be permitted to leave for home Sunday or Monday.

Archaeologists Dig For Funds To Speed Up London Relic Hunt

UNDERGROUND RUINS revealed by the blitz in London.

By ARTHUR D. WHITE

AP Newsfeature

LONDON—It's now or never for British archaeologists probing the secrets of ancient London.

They're appealing for $200,000 to finance a rush job on 2,000 years of history uncovered by German bombs. They must do it before a new London rises on the ruins.

The Luftwaffe blasted to bits the buildings that stood over 50 acres of what formerly was the old 350-acre walled city. Before the new steel and concrete giants go up—and their massive foundations drive deep into the precious, relic-filled soil—archaeologists must dig feverishly.

Once the rebuilding starts, they say, London's buried treasure will be lost.

Steel grabs will smash delicate medieval pottery. Workers' picks will crush crumbling traces of the Roman wall that shielded the legions of Emperor Claudius from barbarous Britons. What survives of Roman London now is buried 12 to 18 feet below the surface.

The history-seekers are racing against time.

Reconstruction cannot be delayed. London's future depends upon it.

The $200,000 the council seeks is in addition to $12,000 already given by the government and $10,000 from private donors. The council hopes American dollars will swell the fund.

Boss of the excavators is keen-eyed William F. Grimes, director of London Museum.

"In the last two years," he says proudly, "we've made more discoveries than in the previous 50. Walls, pottery, bones, coins, implements of all kinds."

"No city in the world ever had a better chance to trace its history. Our aim is to cross-trench every blitz-site."

Main search is in the area east of St. Paul's cathedral where acres were flattened by blast and fire. This region was the center of Roman London.

In spite of 19 centuries of recorded existence, the capital's history is still a large extent unwritten. Grimes asks lots of questions need answers.

Was London's story continuous? What was life like in the prosperous Roman days around A. D. 122 when it had a forum, basilica, statues, shops and markets? What happened after the legions left? What of the dark ages and Saxon days? What traces remain of London's two great calamities—the plague in 1665 and the fire the following year?

Many clues lie in the chalk, gravel and sticky clay on which London is built. A fascinating serial is there, layer upon layer.

Excavators at Cripplegate are digging carefully into the old city ditch—filled in about 1640—which ran outside the massive wall. It was a wet and stinking moat into which citizens tossed everything they didn't want. The old-time rubbish is priceless now.

Pottery and bone implements abound. The Saxon strata gave up a valuable bronze pendant. Medieval pottery found included a whistle in the shape of a jester's head. Filled with water and blown, it warbles like a bird.

Senators Talk To Mystery Man At Closed Session

WASHINGTON, May 12.—(AP)—Senate investigators of Communist spy activities arranged a hush-hush meeting behind closed doors today to question a mystery witness they call "Mr. X."

Senator McCarran (D-Nev), chairman of the judiciary subcommittee conducting the inquiry, refused to give the slightest clue to the man's identity.

Subcommittee aides said the witness summoned to the secret session is "in danger of his life" and cannot be named because of his connections abroad.

McCarran said only: "If he wasn't important, he would not be brought before us; if he was not very important, he would not be brought before us in closed session."

The witness was called in connection with hearings on a bill by McCarran which calls for the deportation of any alien found to be engaged in subversive activities against the United States. It also is designed to strengthen the immigration barriers.

The bill, McCarran has said, is aimed particularly at the foreign agents who come into the country under the guise of representatives to the United Nations and other international groups.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

How Would You Say It?

Curley Lawson's cousin from back East and a few of us got talking when he was here visiting, and I couldn't help noticing how different he said things.

For instance, he said, "Lifting that 200-pound bag of cement almost killed me." "You mean sack of cement?" asks Curley. (That's the way we'd say it.) "No," interrupts young Elliott who'd spent a lot of time down South. "He means a 'poke of cement.'"

It was good for a chuckle, anyway. Bag, sack or poke—we knew what he was trying to say. It just depends on where you are in the U. S., which way sounds right.

From where I sit, whenever we criticize someone for sounding funny to us, we ought to think how we sound to them. It's the same as choosing your liquid refreshment. I'm accustomed to a moderate glass of beer—you may like ginger ale—but who's to say the other's wrong? I'd say we're both right!

A CHANCE MISSED

Whatever may be the outcome of the argument over the Taft-Hartley Law, 1949 probably will be remembered as the year when labor and industry missed the chance to write their own law. If leading labor and business leaders could have got together and prepared the draft of a proposed substitute, to be presented as a proposal on which labor and management were agreed, Congress without doubt would have snapped it up and enacted it.

Instead there has been wide division between labor and management, and within the ranks of each. Most labor spokesmen have continued to seek full repeal of the Taft-Hartley Law, though there were many more moderate views and even a few labor groups willing to see the law left substantially as it is. Industrial expressions of views have been heavily on the side of retention of the law with little change, though many different ways of re-making the law have been suggested and some business people have said they favored outright repeal.

So the chance to get together was missed. But then if labor and management were able to agree on what they want for the future, and how they want to go about getting it, there would be little need for laws to govern labor relations. What the law should do is to make it easier in every possible way for labor and management to come together without tension and without ill feeling, and to protect the interests of the public during labor disputes.

THE NAMING OF ISRAEL

When the Jews of Palestine decided to call their new state Israel, some think they may have missed a bet. As the correspondent Quentin Reynolds points out in his new book, "Leave it to the People," had they chosen the name Zion they would have had the last place in the roll call at United Nations meetings. This would be a very advantageous location. In the event of a tie, the vote of Zion could determine what was to be done.

The name Zion was voted down, however, on the argument that it was merely a hill in Jerusalem, whereas Israel was a name hallowed by association with the great figures of the Old Testament. There is something in the name, and the Israelis of the new state doubtless hope they will be able to clothe the old name Israel with as much dignity and honor as did the figures of Biblical times.

TAPE-TANGLED TEACHING

Teaching isn't teaching any more, declares Charles G. Spiegler, a high school English teacher, in an article in the New York Times. He says it's a job of filling out form and toying with red tape.

This writer claims that the ranks of teachers are thinning out not only for the reasons usually given but because their real purpose in life is continually thwarted by demands which have little to do with teaching. The teacher is expected, Spiegler says, to be a clerical worker, a psychiatrist, a policeman, and an efficiency expert, among other things. His teaching is often done in matches. The fostering of creative work among his pupils is impossible because of continual interruption by the administrative staff.

This is a complaint which is often heard when teachers get together. Many fine

REWARDS FOR THE MANY
 Fortune has money to offer and fame has rewards of a kind, but few win the favors of fortune, and fame to the many is blind. Yet life can be good without a lot of money and laughter and love can be won.

And the many can sit down contented as soon as the day's work is done.
 'Twas a sad world, indeed, if the many the splendors of life were denied; The friendships that gladden the journey, the home with the garden outside; The thrill and the rapture and promise the children are sent here to bring; The streams and the lakes for the dreamers; the song of the birds in the spring.

Leave fortune and fame to the gifted. There's much for the humble career. There are triumphs exalting the spirit when faith at its bravest appears. There are numberless pleasures to choose from the many unhindered may claim, And life can be lived to the fullest, without either fortune or fame.

teachers are unprepared to cope with the nagging details which wear away the fine edge of their teaching ability. The administrative staffs have their own problems, such as shortage of help and lack of sufficient funds, but some way should be found to make it possible for teachers to give their best efforts to teaching in the fields to which they are assigned.

BIOLOGICAL DISPUTE

Which is the more important, heredity or environment? This question has been debated by biologists fully as much as the famous inquiry, "Which came first, the egg or the chicken?" Biologists decided that question long ago in favor of the egg, but they have never been positive about the superior importance of heredity or environment.

Now the question has become political. The Soviet government, which feels bound to know the answers to everything, has pronounced for environment. This of course is fundamental for Communism. If human faults are due to their surroundings, then a different system, like Communism, may conceivably accomplish wonders. If there are troubles in the fundamental human make-up, then it is necessary to improve the stock. The Russians naturally took the first explanation, and have been making much of their scientists and plant-breeder, T. D. Lysenko, the chief advocate of the environment theory.

Columbia University biologists have been experimenting with minute organisms, and unhesitatingly pronounce against Lysenko in favor of heredity. They say any really significant change in the human stock will have to await the appearance of some new variety, or seemingly wholly different origin. Such new varieties do sometimes appear. Some day perhaps scientists may be able to explain why.

FAMILY CONFUSION

"Confusion now hath made his masterpiece!"

This line from Shakespeare was most aptly quoted by Justice Robert Jackson in the dissenting opinion of a recent Supreme Court decision regarding the interstate effects of divorce laws. The court ruled that the state of Connecticut acted properly in setting aside a Nevada divorce because of circumstances under which it was obtained. Justice Jackson, disagreeing, protested that the decision only piled more confusion on the crazy quilt pattern of state divorce laws.

There are several kinds of laws, affecting citizens in their daily lives, in which the variations among the states create high confusion. The registration and regulation of motor vehicles, licensing of drivers, and holding of property are examples. Divorce laws are perhaps the ones which receive the greatest attention in this score.

What is to be done about it? Few people would urge that federal government should take over the regulation of marriage and divorce. Some variation among the different sections of the country probably is unavoidable, since the customs and moral standards on which the laws are based vary to some degree. But a good deal more uniformity and less confusion could be achieved if a concerted effort were made in that direction. The whole national standard of family integrity and security would be raised if there were something approaching a uniform divorce code in all of the states. And at least the shams and falsities of so many of the quick divorces would give way to some measure of reality.

ANTI-JEWISH RUSSIA

The Russian government appears to have adopted an anti-Semitic policy. Jews have been steadily removed from important political and economic posts. Limits are placed on Jewish admissions to higher educational institutions.

This outburst of prejudice is surprising, considering the number of Jews who helped bring about the Bolshevik revolution. Chief among them was Leon Trotsky, co-author with Lenin of the Soviet state. Trotsky, it is true, fell out with Stalin later, and was murdered in Mexico by Communist agents. Individual cases are one thing. Now there seems to be a systematic campaign against the race and religion. Has not the Kremlin had enough campaigns of repression on hand without taking on more?

One plausible suggestion to account for this new wave is that peasant sentiment might demand it. Anti-Semitic riots were an ugly feature of Russian life under the czars, and reflected a popular feeling to which even the dictators think it wise to cater, or which might offer a convenient means to divert attention from other matters.

A system theoretically based on human brotherhood makes a serious blunder if it succumbs to a discreditable racial prejudice.

RETURN OF TRILBY

Hollywood announces plans to film "Trilby" in color. This should bring back successfully scenes of the Paris of the nineties, with its gardens and the Bohemian surroundings of the artists with whom the story deals. "Trilby," published in 1894, was a phenomenal best-seller of the time, and still is read with fondness by many who like to read of the uneducated Parisian girl with the marvellous voice, brought to its climax by the hypnotic treatment of the wicked Svengali. "Svengali" still survives as a favorite name for a hypnotist.

George D. Maurier, the author, was even better known as an artist. Painting was his real life work; he wrote but three novels, and those in his last years. His "Peter Ibbetson" has been filmed, but the third novel, "The Martian," has been long forgotten.

It would be interesting to see how his artist's eye would respond to the effects created by Hollywood in the filming of his stories.

STARTING POINT

A monument commemorating the battle of Lexington has just been unveiled on the site, on the occasion of the 174th anniversary of the skirmish. Skirmish is really all that it was. The colonial forces did almost no damage with their firing, and suffered themselves a loss of eight killed and nine wounded. They fled almost as soon as ordered to disperse by the British commander, Maj. John Pitcairn.

The real fighting was done at neighboring Concord, where, in Emerson's immortal phrase, "The embattled farmer stood, and fired the shot heard around the world." Though only three British soldiers perished at Concord Bridge, the march back to Boston was disastrous. During it 273 lost their lives from the shots fired continuously from the stone walls along the road. Concord residents are reported to resent Lexington's attempt to claim part of her glory. But there is enough for both.

PARKING OR PARKS

A hard-pressed city traffic commissioner, constantly badgered by citizens complaining about the lack of parking facilities, suggested, perhaps not altogether seriously, that a park in the heart of the downtown district be paved and given over to automobile storage.

In a really civilized community, if it were necessary to make the choice, grass would be sowed on some of the parking lots, and they would be turned into parks. There are plenty of places to put parking space—underground and on the roofs of low buildings, for instance. The bits of green grass are more precious.

BROOKLYN SPECTACLE

Who runs the Brooklyn schools? Apparently it is the boy gangs, according to an article in the New York Times. They are said to terrify both teachers and parents so that school dances must have the gang's approval before they are allowed. In certain neighborhoods members of Parent-Teacher Associations are ordered to attend the affairs or face the vengeance of these young hoodlums, armed with knives.

Any community which tolerates such dominance by youthful gangs is giving its young people a poor and dangerous brand of education. It is dangerous for the community as well as for the youngsters.

A group of senators made news by touring the Washington slums. They could do that at home.

The more you think of it, the more you should appreciate the value of baseball.

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS and EARL L. DOUGLASS

Any careful observer of these times must be struck by the preponderance of attention that is being given to blue-prints of a post-war world. Most people do not realize that the Christian Gospel has a blue-print for a transformed world order and that this blue-print sets forth a settlement of world affairs which will mend all settlements. The blue-print is unrolled in today's Sunday school lesson which pictures the final wind-up of human affairs. This will come about as the result of our Lord's Second Coming.

There are many Christians today who make light of the Biblical teaching that Jesus will return to judge the earth and close out the mundane world order. But our Lord's teachings on this point was so plain that no one who has any regard at all for the authority of the written word can afford to take such a position. Over and over again Jesus during His ministry assured His friends that He would come again. That was the farewell message He left them: it is the last word of the closing book of the Bible. As Paul wrote his first letter to the Thessalonians he and they, certain return. His second coming to be in their lifetime.

Date Not Important. But they were mistaken, as countless other Christians since have been, in fixing a time for the Lord's return. Millions today see as the one sure solution of the whole world's present travail the personal advent of the Saviour as King. They may be right; or they may be mistaken as the scholars who have been disappointed in the past. Certainly they underestimate the Master's warning, "Of that day or that hour knoweth no one, not even the angels in heaven, neither the Son, but the Father."

We do not know when or how Jesus Christ will come again to claim His kingdom. All we know is that He will surely return. Scholars divide up the interpretation of Scripture. Millions are attracted by the pre-millennial teaching, which, as has been the case through the ages, sees the Return as imminent. Others believe that the Coming was at Pentecost; still others believe that the Coming is at death, while others look for a post-millennial appearing. We can only be sure of the Saviour's repeated warnings that no man knows the day or the hour of Second Advent.

What of the Atom? There is a great deal of apprehension today lest by discovering the secret of the atom we may start a chain reaction which will result in the complete destruction of the earth. But the Bible assures us that man will never destroy the earth. That is God's prerogative. We are told in the Second Epistle of Peter that

"the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night; in which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also and the works that are therein shall be burned up." We may destroy civilization with our mishandling of scientific discoveries, but we shall never destroy the earth itself. And through all the rules which the wickedness of man may bring on civilizations and governments one thing will remain intact—the Church. "The gates of hell shall not prevail against it."

As Jesus, a few days before His death, went out of the temple never again to reenter it, one of His disciples said, "Master, see what manner of stones and what buildings are here!" and the reply He made was "Seest thou these great buildings? there shall not be left one stone upon another that shall not be cast down."

Forty years later it came to pass just as He prophesied. Rome moved in with her legions, and the Jewish kingdom was at an end. National life was not to reappear until almost 20 centuries had passed. The temple was destroyed. Later, when the Romans were through not one stone of the temple remained standing upon another.

No King, No Kingdom. The King had been rejected, and with His rejection the kingdom perished. The rubble of bombed cities today tells the story of what happens to nations and civilization when they try to operate apart from the only true King, Jesus Christ. There is an incredible neglect in modern thinking and planning of the obvious truth that it is the King who makes the Kingdom, and that Jesus Christ is the only Leader who can really bring to pass the new life of our dreams.

The word for us is "Watch." We cannot know the time of Christ's coming but we can be on the watch in true vigilance of spirit. And whoever is ready for Christ, is ready for anything. Nothing can so purify and fortify the human spirit as a sense of

Truman Remains Unchanged On Taft-Hartley

WASHINGTON, May 12.—(AP)—AFL President William Green said Wednesday President Truman told him "emphatically and frankly" that he still favors outright repeal of the Taft-Hartley act and a return to the Wagner Act with only slight amendment. Green, talking with newsmen after a White House conference, said Mr. Truman was optimistic that his labor program will be through "without much change," despite initial setbacks in Congress.

RENTS

Asked for comment on the letter Moore said he thought Washington officials knew that "rent controls are not necessary in Texas."
"The war has been over four years," he said. "I'm not only amazed but I'm alarmed whenever the executive department issues orders and commands to army or other military officers to come down to the legislature of Texas to intimidate and try to force their edicts down the throats of the people."
Moore also took to task the State American Legion commander, Bill McCraw, for his stand on rent decontrol. McCraw has demanded a public hearing on the bill before any further action is taken by the house. The measure has been passed on second reading.
"I'm getting fed up with uniformed people like McCraw in Dallas saying what the veterans are," Moore said. "Veterans from all over Texas have volunteered to appear before legislative committees endorsing decontrol of rent in Texas."

SHREVEPORT, La., May 12—
(P)—An air force general denied as "unheard of" charges by a Texas legislator that the general was forced by Washington officials to oppose a bill in the Texas legislature which would decontrol Texas rents.
The officer was Maj. Gen. Robert W. Burns, deputy commanding general of the headquarters air training command, Barksdale Field, La. Rep. Carlton Moore, author of the rent decontrol bill made the charge yesterday in Austin.
Gov. Beauford Jester's office has released a letter from Burns, urging Texas to go slow on rent decontrol legislation.
Burns in his statement issued at Barksdale, said:
"The most real factor that faces us day by day is the lack of adequate housing and personnel. The absolutely inadequate housing for which our men are paying terrific prices is a large factor in why we lose our trained personnel."

cations simply because of the wage-scale differences. They considered these differences only temporary.
"What they were primarily interested in were lower labor costs—less labor turnover and absenteeism with greater opportunity of operation at cheap labor."
Other inducements include favorable tax rates, the frequent availability of water transportation, a climate which allows low-cost construction, and the frequent willingness of local capital to help expansion.
"The south of course has a long, long way to go before it balances its agriculture with industry," it was stated.
"But it is making real progress in that direction. The South's markets, materials, and labor supply give it a sound basis for future advancement."
The committee found that industrial expansion "has been good for the South."
The entry of firms producing chemicals, farm equipment, tires, automobiles, electrical goods, aluminum, shoes, and cheese and other food products makes the South less sensitive to economic ups and downs, the report says.
"This expansion in the South is also good for the whole country. Northern companies have not been boarding up their windows while industry has been finding new life in the South."

Cost Of Power Is Not Big Factor In Mill Shifts
BOSTON, May 12—(P)—The New England council has concluded that power costs are not a "significant" factor in any textile mill shifts from north to the south.
The council's committee on economic development reported last night that a survey showed that the differential in the cost of power "cannot be the decisive factor in a decision to move, particularly in view of prevailing costs of new construction."
A private research firm made the survey for the council, a regional development organization.
The council added that it knew of no mills that had chosen to relocate in the area survey by the Tennessee Valley Authority.
The fact that power costs there are "definitely lower."

SWIMMING POOL
The pools in Ennis, Hillsboro, Mexia, West and Athens use the chlorination system successfully. They all report that a third to a half of their business comes from Corsicana. The city has a chlorinator that was once used at the city lake that has been declared can be made to serve the pool for $600, and a new one costs $800.
Pool will not pay—A city does not expect its parks to pay. They are a city's responsibility, and the citizens, Corsicana has one park on the extreme northern edge. The ballast is all on one side of the ship. At least 11 parks of two blocks in area are needed to put a place space available to each mother within seven blocks of her home. Cleaning up the natural area would provide a much needed park in spot where it is especially needed to balance the city's park spots.
The pool is too hot—The hot minute is no longer used, although it was the reason for putting the pool where it is in the first place. City water is piped to the pool and has been used for many years when the pool has been run.
Lockers and showers are needed—Can't there be enough lumber and labor to put up simple convenient lockers along the east side of the pool? The water is piped very near there for showers.
The diseases—Corsicana doesn't have any that Athens, Ennis, West Hillsboro and Mexia do not have.
The surroundings are unattractive—Granted. The city could set a wonderful example by straightening out the properties and planting screen foliage in front of storage bins that cannot be moved now.
The women's all of the objections the women can think of right now, but the matter is open for suggestions, they declare.
The fact that the natatorium building is now leased to the Texas National Guard as a gunnery doesn't matter, Mrs. Elliott pointed out.
"Many of those boys have said they need a place to swim, for as it is now they go six miles north to Chambers Creek and swim in muddy water holes," she said.
It looks like somebody is going to take a plunge.

Lubbock Editor To Be Honored At Laredo Fete

LAREDO, May 12.—(AP)—Charles A. Guy, popular and well-known editor of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, Wednesday was chosen as the outstanding editor in Texas by a committee headed by Mayor Hugh S. Cluck of Laredo.

Guy will be invited to attend the streets of Laredo Founding Fiesta here May 15-16 as an honor guest.

The committee which selected the Lubbock editor was composed of representatives of the Laredo Times, South Texas Citizens and the Chamber of Commerce. The selection was made after a statewide survey.

Guy was informed of his selection in a long distance telephone call this morning by Mayor Cluck. He accepted the invitation to attend the fiesta. He and Mrs. Guy will arrive in Laredo Saturday afternoon.

"We think we have expressed the sentiment of the entire Texas newspaper profession in selecting Charles A. Guy as our state's outstanding editor and publisher," the mayor said. "We feel he is the type of man the founding fathers of Laredo would have selected to operate their town's newspaper when Laredo was first founded 194 years ago."

Nevin Club Plans Saturday Program

The Nevin Club's grand finale dinner and all-Hammond organ program will begin promptly at 7 o'clock Saturday evening, instead of 10 as originally announced. Members of the club and guests are urged to take note of the change in hour of meeting.

Miss Gertrude Day of Dallas, outstanding organist and teacher of organ, will present the all-Hammond organ program as a highlight of the dinner occasion. A Hammond organ is being sent to Corsicana through the courtesy of the Dallas dealer and will be installed on the stage in the Kate Whiteside Auditorium for the program, which is expected to be one of the most enjoyable offered by the club this season.

The numbers and Miss Day has included on her program will have an unusual appeal to her listeners. They include Venetian Love Song by Nevin, Fountain Reverie by Fletcher, Midnight Bells by Rachmaninoff, Chorale by Bach, Ave Maria by Schubert, Barcarolle by Sturges, Meditation by Bubeck, The Rosary by Nevin, By the Waters of Minnetonka by Llewellyn, Lullaby by Nevin, and The Lord's Prayer by Nevin.

Mrs. W. M. Forester will serve as program chairman and introduce the organist.

Mrs. George Daniels, president of the club, will bring greetings and welcome members and guests. She will also introduce the incoming officers.

Members of the Nevin Club and their friends may make reservations at Kinsloe House through Friday noon.

Rent Controls For Dallas Suburb End

WASHINGTON, May 12.—(AP)—Federal rent controls have been removed in University Park, (Dallas) Texas.

Housing Expediter Tighe E. Woods announced the action Tuesday night.

ELECTRA

sent at the injunction hearing Saturday.

"The interstate commerce commission ruled with us two weeks ago," he said. "They said it was a state matter."

Electra is one of four Texas towns which don't want to watch the trains go by.

No sir, they want the trains to stop.

Electra's battle to keep from becoming a "whistle stop" on the Fort Worth & Denver City Railroad reaches a climax tomorrow afternoon. Chills and Clarendon are ready to join this fight.

But Whitney, the busiest little city by a damsite, has only begun its battle with the Katy Railroad on a similar subject.

Mayor Fred Basham was quite definite that Whitney was not "going to become a whistle stop by a damsite."

(The big Whitney Dam is being built near Whitney, in Central Texas.)

Whitney's dander went up yesterday when it heard the Katy was going to stop passenger service on its Waco to Stamford branch.

Basham called Electra's battle "just a sideshow compared to the main event we will stage to keep passenger service on the line."

Basham called for a group of townsfolk to go to Austin Monday to seek a hearing before the railroad commission.

Whitney, Walnut Springs, Hico, Iredell, Dublin, De Leon, Gorman, Carbon, Cisco, Moran and Albany and Stamford are served by the branch line.

Now about Electra's mourning: The railroad commission reversed an earlier decision and told the FW&D to go ahead and make Electra and several other towns "whistle stops."

The railroad said it didn't get enough business at these places to make regular stops worthwhile.

So tomorrow, Mayor T. Leo Moore and some of Electra's citizens are going to hold "whistle stop memorial day."

Moore is resorting to his last court of appeals—public opinion.

They're going to stage a big party when the crack Zephyr stops. A couple of bands will be on hand. So will the VFW and American Legion and fire department—all in uniform.

Doughnuts and coffee for the passengers, flowers for the ladies, too.

It's an official day, proclaimed by Mayor Moore.

Mayor Moore and the city council also passed a walloping ordinance that, among other things, requires trains to slow down to 15 miles per hour within city limits, employ a flag man at every crossing, limit obstruction of crossings by trains to five-minute periods and provides for regular inspection of train toilets by the City Health Officer.

The railroad isn't saying much about its plans—present or future. It knows this ordinance won't stop the trains completely all the time.

Well, how are they going to stop the train tomorrow?

There'll be a passenger board at Fort Worth, bound for Electra. It has to stop to let him off. How do folks at Electra know this? Mayor Moore arranged it.

ABILENE, Tex., May 12.—(AP)—Mayors along the upper reaches of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroad's Waco-to-Stamford line are not getting very excited about Katy's plans to change the service.

The railroad wants to substitute mixed trains for the twice-daily train.

Stamford's Chamber of Commerce Manager, Lee Walker, said it may be the railroad can make the change without railroad commission hearings, because it would be a substitution of service.

Cisco Mayor G. C. Rosenthal said his town has joined in the plea for a hearing but he wouldn't "go as far as Electra" in protesting the change.

Albany Mayor P. J. (OK) Dantell and Miss Ollie Clark, Albany Chamber of Commerce Manager, called local citizens to a meeting yesterday but reported no one seemed very excited over the proposed change.

Stamford, Walker predicted, will not fight the change but will join a request for a hearing.

BIG, AREN'T THEY?—Hull Belmore, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Belmore of Dallas, Texas, is astonished at the piece of hall he is holding and wonders if they can get any bigger. In the foreground is a collection of hall gathered by neighborhood children and a baseball for comparison. The largest hall reported at Odessa during the May 7 storm was ten inches in circumference. The piece to the right of the baseball measures nine inches in circumference (AP Photo.)

Mystery Fish Is Caught In Region Of San Angelo

SAN ANGELO, May 12.—(AP)—Here's a fish story about one that didn't get away. But how did he get where he got caught?

A 1-2 pound bass was caught at Christoval. The bass had a tag on the upper part of a gill, bearing the number 1207.

The closest fishing rodeos are the one here, in which numbers range from one to 150 and at Winters, where they go from 151 to 200. Austin and Brownwood sportsmen staged tagged fish rodeos last year.

But this tag was nearly overgrown with gristle, indicating it was a year or two old.

Can a fish swim up the Colorado river from Austin or down the Pecan Bayou to Brownwood, then up the Colorado, to Christoval, on the head waters of the tributary South Concho around 300 miles away, by river-line?

their obligations under the charter on matters which seriously affect the maintenance of peace."

On this latter point, Mr. Truman added:

"If the United Nations as a security organization has disappeared, as the secretary of state notes, and if we have had to take supplemental measures to meet actual or potential threats to our security, it is not because the United States has not put forth real efforts to develop the United Nations to its full stature."

"The world today is not the world we had hoped for when the San Francisco conference adjourned less than four years ago."

Acheson said the United States had taken the lead in keeping U. N. attention focused on the questions of the future government of Palestine, the independence of Spain, and the maintenance of the territorial and political independence of Greece. This country also played a "prominent part," he said, in attempts to bring peace to Indonesia.

When exhaustive efforts failed to remove the threat to peace caused by the Soviet blockade of Berlin, we joined with France and the United Kingdom in placing the matter before the security council," Acheson said.

The 301-page report which Acheson sent to the President and the President forwarded to congress least in detail with problems which arose before the U. N. security council, general assembly and other agencies during the year.

Joe Mac Gresham Effective When Locals Threaten

By TALMADGE CANANT
Sun Sports Staff.

Waco high school temporarily derailed the Corsicana Tigers at Turrito Park Wednesday afternoon, turning back the locals 7-2 and forcing Coach Boyd Payne's crew to try again for a clinching game in the district face.

The Tigers played in misfortune all day, but the pinch-hurling of Joe Mac Gresham was the big factor in the Waco win. The visitors crammed four runs into the fourth inning and sewed up the game. Thus Corsicana and Waco have split their series this season.

Corsicana can still take the district title by defeating the Temple Wildcats in Temple Saturday afternoon, May 14 at 2:30. A loss to Temple would necessitate a playoff between Corsicana and Waco.

Jerry Caton started for Corsicana, and his wildest day of the season. In the 3-13 inning he tossed Waco touched him for 9 hits while he was issuing two walks and two wild pitches. He was relieved by Walter Bond, who finished off by allowing four hits, one of which was a round tripper off the bat of Knowles in the seventh.

Twice during the ball game Gresham retired the Tigers when they had two men on base, and at one time the bases were full. A hit at any one of these points would have put Corsicana back in the ball game. The locals left 11 men die on base.

The Corsicana hitting was not weak, for the Bengals touched Gresham for nine hits, but the hits were scattered, instead of being bunched at the crucial points.

Reed Hamstrings Allen Academy As Bulldogs Win, 14-1

The Navarro Bulldogs, behind the two-hit pitching of Ed Reed and the big bats of their offense, whitewashed the Allen Academy Ramblers, 14-1 in Frost Wednesday night and sat back to watch the outcome of the Allen Academy-Henderson County game today in Athens.

If the Ramblers lose, Navarro is still in the race for the zone title. If the win, Navarro is out. It was a fine comeback for the Bulldogs, who lost a heart-breaker to the Ramblers last week in Bryerton, 2-1. The locals tied off on the offerings of Skinny Bridges, and would have shut the Bryanites out except for two freak hits in the sixth.

One of the safe blows was a dead drop over first base just out of reach of the baseman. The other was a close umpire's decision at first base on an infield grounder. Except for those two, Reed held the Ramblers helpless and fanned 19 batters, while Bridges was whiffing 11 Bulldogs.

Vets Should List New Addresses If Leaving Schools

Veterans who plan to change address in either May or June should report this to the Veterans' Administration, Robert C. Reeder, VA contact representative here, announced Thursday.

May substance checks will go out at the end of May or the first of June, and by then a lot of veterans leaving school will have changed addresses for the summer, the VA says.

"If a veteran wants the May check delivered to his present address and the June check to a new one," Reeder explained, "he should give VA the new address now and date the change, 'June, 1949'."

Reeder said some veterans also are due to get leave checks, which will be mailed about June 30. Immediate reporting of address changes applies likewise to the leave checks the VA official said.

The local VA office is located at 208, State National Bank building.

Bids For Highway Work In County Are Due May 24

Sealed bids will be received May 24 by the Texas Highway commission for 8.897 miles of single asphalt surface treatment from old Highway 31 (F-M Highway 709) east of Dawson through Eldorado to the Limestone-Navarro county line, according to an advertisement being run by the highway department.

The dirt and drainage structures and a rock surfacing were placed on this segment of the Navarro county road system were completed in 1948. The road begins at point in the Griffin school area and will connect with improved roads in Limestone county that terminate at Coolidge and connect with a state highway there.

Contract recently was awarded for the siting of the Streetman-Birdston cemetery, Purley and Emmett farm to market roads and bids will also be received soon for the surfacing of the Mildred to east of Tuckertown farm-to-market road from Highway 287 southeast of Corsicana. This road goes by Camp Vanica.

Right-of-way is being secured on a road beginning west of Powell and then proceeds to the Roane-Chaffield area that eventually is expected to become a state highway connecting Corsicana and Mahan, crossing Trinity river in the extreme northeast corner of Navarro county.

Several farm-to-market roads have been requested and a number have been designated to be constructed as soon as funds are available.

A road from Dawson north to Brushy Prairie has been requested as has a road beginning at Emhouse and extending to Barry via Crayer Creek. Roads have been requested from Barry south via Drane to Highway 31.

There will probably be at least a half dozen highway construction jobs under way in Navarro county within the next few weeks.

Junior College Students On Tour

Headed by Ray Waller, the Navarro Junior College students made another tour today with stops at the Mildred High School, the Corsicana High School, the Emhouse High School, closing the day at the Rice High School. At each school before the student bodies a program was given consisting of band and orchestra numbers, a one-act play, singing and other features. The group is scheduled to appear at the Dawson and other high schools Wednesday. M. S. Cook, director of the play and C. E. Bore, director of the band accompanied the delegation.

Trailer Truck Crashes Bridge

Wider bridges—or more cautious motorists.

That's what the highway department probably wishes for.

About six weeks ago a man plunged his auto into the side of the Richland Creek bridge, tearing down three cement pillars. Three new ones were erected.

Before daylight Tuesday, a huge trailer truck smashed into the same three pillars, tearing them down and knocking loose about 40 others, the highway patrol reported.

The driver, Horace Franklin Downs of Magnolia, reported he was blinded by an approaching car's headlights. He was uninjured.

Fire On Rifle Range Planned By Local Guard

The 133rd Field Artillery Battalion, Corsicana's National guard unit, will use its newly-completed rifle range near Kerens for the first time Saturday, May 14, officials of the unit announced Thursday.

Firing will take place at the range all day May 14 and 15, and on May 21 and 22, with possibly another week-end of firing to follow at a later date. Purpose of the firing is to sample to qualify all personnel of the unit before this summer's National Guard camp.

Officers of the unit state that the range has been designed for maximum safety and that guards and red flags will be out in the area during the periods of firing. The range is located in the Able Parsons survey, 6 miles northeast of Kerens on property owned by Cora N. Spivey.

Direction of fire will be north.

Evidence Offered Against Army In Texas City Case

HOUSTON, May 12—(AP)—Plaintiffs in the $200,000,000 Texas City disaster suit contend the army didn't start worrying about contamination of ammonium nitrate fertilizer until after the disaster. Evidence intended to show the army's concern over contamination of the fertilizer during transportation was introduced yesterday.

This concern, attorneys for the plaintiffs told Federal Judge T. M. Kennerly, followed the disastrous explosions of April, 1947.

It was ammonium nitrate fertilizer that blew up aboard the French freighter Grandcamp on April 19, 1947, and touched off a chain of explosions and fires that resulted in more than 500 casualties.

Official correspondence introduced showed that as much as a year after the disaster complaints were being received from ports about the number of damaged bags of fertilizer received, despite orders to stop breakage.

Abilene Is Seeking Record For Safety

ABILENE, May 12.—(P)—Abilene hopes to make Friday the 13th a red letter day—and not because of any silly superstition.

A big parade is planned tomorrow and there's a fireworks display planned at the baseball park that night.

Schenectady, N. Y., holds the record of 702 deathless days in Abilene's population class.

Shower Is Given For Bride-To-Be

Mrs. A. W. Smith and Miss Janis Berry entertained with a shower at the Smith home Thursday evening in compliment to Miss Beattie Borsellino, bride-elect of Frankie Morris of Purdon. Receiving with the hostesses and honor guests were Mesdames Donald Borsellino and A. S. Nagy, and Mrs. Joe Jalmieri, aunts and grandmother of the honoree.

The home was adorned with a variety of spring blossoms, and the lace-laid table held a central arrangement of white roses, pink and white daisies in a crystal container. Pink tapers burned in crystal candelabra and provided soft illumination for the setting.

Miss Elizabeth Rischer presided at the punch service and Mrs. Arthur Bordin served cake.

Assisting in hostess duties were Mesdames Mary Walker and Mary Frances DeGeorgia. Miss Peggy Berry registered the 70 or more guests who called.

Entertainment features of the evening included a group of songs by Mesdames Virginia and Frankie Shaw of Dawson, who sang "You, You, You Are the One," "My Hero," "Underneath the Linden Tree," and "Indian Love Call." Miss "Weidmann" sang "The Courtin'" by James Russell Lowell as another appropriate program highlight.

Rev. C. D. Wooten, Groesbeck Pastor, Civitan Speaker

The fascination of games and the philosophy of recreation was graphically explained to Corsicana Civitans Thursday by Rev. C. D. Wooten, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Groesbeck.

Wooten, who explained that we seek recreation because we want release, demonstrated at least dozen different tricks and puzzles with which to while away an idle hour and relax.

Some were of his own making, for Wooten has long made them in his Groesbeck workshop. Others were reproductions of puzzles we have all seen.

The minister showed a Jacob's Ladder, the old, but still difficult 38-pick puzzle in the shape of a cross, and the intricate Devil's Needle, which legend has it, a king once put on a dungeon door in the castle, and let the prisoner free who could work it.

The trick that mystified the Civitans, however, was made of simpler stuff. It consisted of balancing a penny on a coat-hanger which was whirled around the finger.

Rev. J. Morris Bailey and Clark Butler were in charge of the program for the day, with Robert Cason and Sam Carroll named to the committee for the May 19 session.

A committee consisting of Joe Garner, Andy Armistead and M. H. Statham was appointed to work out details of the public installation of new officers in the near future.

Glen Thompson read a letter from the Corsicana Jaycees-sites, announcing the date for donations to the Navarro county blood bank.

Don Winslow, now general secretary of the Corsicana YMCA, and S. J. Schreiner of Dallas were guests.

Former Air Force Man Sentenced In Plane Smuggling

BROWNSVILLE, May 12.—(AP)—A former U. S. Air Force pilot was sentenced today for illegally flying an A-20 attack bomber out of the country to help Nicaraguan Rebels.

Federal Judge Allen B. Hannay yesterday convicted James C. Hurst, 27, of illegally exporting the plane. Hurst, formerly of Miami and now a Colombian air line pilot, waived trial by jury.

Hurst testified he took the plane early last year from Los Angeles, Calif., to Guatemala City, Guatemala. But once he got there, he testified, he backed out of the revolutionary plot cooked up by enemies of Nicaraguan Dictator General Anastasio (Tacho) Somoza.

Hurst said he told U. S. officials all about the plot and his part in it. The pilot said he flew the plane to Guatemala City to help the revolutionary forces of General Emilio Chamorro.

Hurst was charged with illegally exporting the plane. The indictment alleged that he and Carl P. Marquand, now believed to be in a California hospital, exported the plane without a license.

Hurst said he was offered the job of Nicaraguan minister of aviation for his part. He also was to receive cash.

Air Force Capt. Edward J. Walsh, Jr., assistant U. S. military attaché for air in Guatemala in 1948, testified:

"They (Hurst and Marquand) were going to pick a favorable day with good flying weather when Somoza was in Managua," Walsh said. He quoted Hurst as saying the two were going to make 12 bombing runs, dropping two bombs on each of three passes over their various targets, and making nine single passes. Military barracks as well as the general's castle-like residence, La Curva, were among their targets, Walsh and Hurst told him.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 12.—(AP)—Lukewarm demand was enough to keep the stock market on a fairly level today.

Final prices showed advances of fractions to around a point.

Turnover was around 800,000 shares.

Higher prices were paid most of the day for Bethlehem Steel, Republic Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, Douglas Aircraft, American Telephone, Consolidated Natural Gas, Dow Chemical, Allied Chemical, U. S. Gypsum, Richfield Oil, Northern Pacific, Houston Oil, Mission Corp., and Transcontinental & Western Air.

Non-ferrous metal shares, recently under pressure, did comparatively well. Anaconda, De Pasco, and American Smelting slipped minor fractions but Kennecott advanced and Phelps Dodge barely stirred.

Among bank spots off and on were Graham-Paige (at a new low for the year), Woolworth, Westinghouse Electric, Western Union, Pacific Western Oil, and Firestone.

Cleburne Unable To Match Bengals Attack Tuesday

Walter Bond hurled the Corsicana Tigers to a 4-2 victory over the Corsicana Yellow Jackets in Cleburne Tuesday afternoon, putting the Bengals within one game of the District 9-AA throne room.

Never behind, the Bengals nevertheless had trouble in hitting safely, and each hurler gave up 4 hits apiece.

Dick Miller scored Cleburne's only runs with a 2-run homer in the fifth.

Tiger defenses were better, only one error being chalked up against the locals. Bobby Stagers at second base turned in the outstanding defensive performance of the day.

Bond, the winning pitcher, turned in the only extra-base hit of the day for Corsicana, a double.

Tiger hitters were Jerral Owens, Frank Warfield, Jack Bowden and Walter Bond.

Dawson Swamps Wortham.

The Dawson Bulldogs strengthened their second place position in District 20-B baseball recently by beating Wortham, 16-1.

The win gave the Bulldogs a record of seven wins against three losses.

Bobby Lawrence of Dawson pitched one-hit ball, and Lawrence, Baker and Owens each got two hits to pace the Dawson batters.

Farm-To-Market Road Discussed By Commissioners

Five Man Jury Of View Is Named To Assess Damages

A five-man jury of view was named by the Commissioners' Court Monday to survey land and assess damages incidental to the laying out and opening of a farm-to-market road from near Powell to a point near Chatfield.

The ten-mile road would begin off highway 31 one mile northwest of Powell, north through Roane and Montfort, to near Chatfield.

Allan Bryant of Roane reported to the court that 24 out of 31 landowners along the proposed road had donated rights of ways, while seven are "holding out."

Legal Proceedings

Legal proceedings necessary for the county to obtain rights of ways were explained to the court by County Attorney Charles T. Bannister at the request of Judge Joe Huffstutler.

The jury of view appointed consists of John R. Estes, Loyd Knott, Cyril Moore, Earl Easterling and Joe Hodges. After being notified of their appointments, they will take the statutory oath, make surveys of the proposed route and make damages assessments, then report back to the commissioners' court.

Bryant said "It is hoped construction work will start on the road by July 1." The road is known as Farm Road No. 120.

Make Request

Two of seven landowners who have not promised right of way to the county—Dr. W. W. Carter and J. O. Burke—appeared before the court, asking that a small stretch of concrete be laid on a road that leads to the proposed new farm-to-market road, so that water from an easily over-flowed creek might pass over and make that road passable when it rains.

"We don't want to block the new road," said Carter, who indicated he and Burke would grant the desired right of way if the concrete slab were laid.

Commissioner J. C. McMullan explained that if this were done everyone along the proposed road also would expect similar favors.

Burke and Carter had wanted the farm-to-market road to take a different route than that designated by the State Highway Commission.

"I want it to be clear I'm a game loser," said Carter, but he insisted that the right of way under question would have to be bought.

Commissioner Fred Copeland explained that if it weren't for a law authorizing condemnation proceedings there wouldn't be many roads in counties of Texas—or any telephone or light poles and lines.

The court met about three hours Monday afternoon, following a brief morning session.
